Plan for S. F. Excursion To Sacramento Jaysee is Arranged by Bud Decker

Quota Of Two Hundred Needed To Make Trip Success; Active Program Planned

Tickets for the excursion trip to Sacramento for State's football encounter with Sacramento Jaysee on November 5, will be placed on sale Monday, October 4 with Bud Decker, acting as general chairman of the affair.

A quota of 200 students must be signed up by October 22, two weeks before the excursion. The entire trip will cost no more than $2.50 which includes transportation, meal ticket, and entrance to game.

Trains will leave San Francisco at 4:00 P.M. and will arrive in Sacramento at 6:20, after a trip filled with entertainment and student demonstrations arranged by the committee in charge.

San Francisco students will be met at the depot by representatives from the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce and a delegation from the Sacramento Junior College student body led by John Gowan, student body president.

State students, led by the yell leaders and a 35-piece band, will march down K street in Sacramento from the depot to a restaurant which will be used exclusively by the San Francisco students. From the cafeteria, busses will take the delegatios to the game. Numerous stunts will be presented during the halves of the game which will end at about 10:30.

At 10:45 in the Sacramento Jaysee gymnasium a rally will be held with 5 stunts from each school. The rally will be concluded with a dance which will terminate at 12:30. Busses will return the San Franciscans to the train which leaves at 1:30.

Mr. Colthurst of the Southern Pacific Railway Company will provide a special train for the excursion, and the students will be given the use of two stripped assembly cars for dancing with the band playing. A ferry boat will be chartered for the return bay trip during which time more stunts and dancing will be arranged.

Bud Decker urges all students to cooperate with these arrangements and purchase tickets soon. The tickets and many posters will be provided by the Southern Pacific Railway Company.

Debate Awards Made At Rally Tomorrow

Five Numbers In Delma's Talent Parade

At the weekly pre-game rally to be held tomorrow in the gym, three varsity debaters will be presented with their official student body debate award by President Bill Smith. The three State speakers to be honored are Cliff Worth, present editor of the Golden Gater, Louis Abate, treasurer of Delta Sigma, and Burton Johnson, member of College Theater.

To win the gold Delta Sigma pin, indicative of proficiency in college forensics, these students have had to participate in ten intercollegiate debates. With the presentation of the pins, there are only six students with the award.

Monk Delma, head yell leader, has a big entertainment program planned. Continuing his Talent Parade, Delma will present five acts. Bobby Milton, twelve-year-old soprano, will be featured. Other numbers will include Vernon Rees, assistant yell leader, in one of his well known "hat monologues;" a four-piece swing band of State students; and Marshall Blum will sing "So I've Been Towle."

Fran Twohig, one of Delma's assistant yell leaders, will do a dance routine. Miss Twohig has performed before on numerous occasions at rallies and other State entertainments.

Dan Farmer, co-coach of the Gater eleven, will give the students a few pointers on what to expect Friday night when the Purple and Gold meets his Alma Mater, Chico State College, at Roberts Field.

Further details will be given in regard to the proposed excursion to Sacramento, November 5, when the Gater football team is scheduled to play the Sacramento Junior

"Any student interested in getting into the Talent Parade can enter the try-outs being held every Monday and Thursday in Annex B8, at 4:00," Delma stated.

Last Block "S" Dance Friday In Gymnasium

Last Block "S" dance of the present semester will be sponsored tomorrow evening, October 1, in the Women's gymnasium following the San Francisco State-Chico State College football encounter.

The dance will begin at 10:00 and continue until 1:00 o'clock. The Campus orchestra will be featured, and the affair promises to be very entertaining and well supported as the Chico State delegation will attend.

Mike Driscoll, president of the Block "S", and general chairman of the dances sponsored by the organization, expresses his appreciation to the student body as a whole for the "wonderful support the other two Block 'S' dances were given." Driscoll reports that "the events have been successful both financially and socially."

Committee in charge of this last dance consists of Vernon Ouelette as chairman, and Bud Glasgow, Jack Hulbert, Spider Turner, and Harry Robey as his assistants.

Sophomore Strut At Country Club

Devonshire Country Club, situated in the San Carlos Hills, will be the scene of the annual Sophomore Strut to be held Saturday, October 23, from 9:00 until 1:00 o'clock. Devonshire Club is the traditional setting for this event.

The affair promises to provide much entertainment, and although the orchestra has not been definitely dated, the committee in charge promised to select a popular one.

Billy Hammond and Morley Carrouthers, presidents of the low and high sophomore classes, have appointed the following people to act as assistants on the joint committee: Esther Reguire, Peggy Clifford, Gwen Smith, Betty Christian, and Lee Scarlett.

Appointments For Senior Pictures Scheduled For Fri.

Appointments for Senior pictures will be made in College Hall starting tomorrow. Members of the staff of the 1937 Franciscan will be in the main hall of the Administration building between 10 and 12 to make all necessary arrangements. Pictures of January graduates and prospective May and July graduates will be taken during the week of October 11 by J. H. Doherty of the Fisher Studios.

All pictures will be taken on the campus. Slight charge will be made for retakes other than those made necessary through fault of the photographer. Pictures must be completed during the month of October.

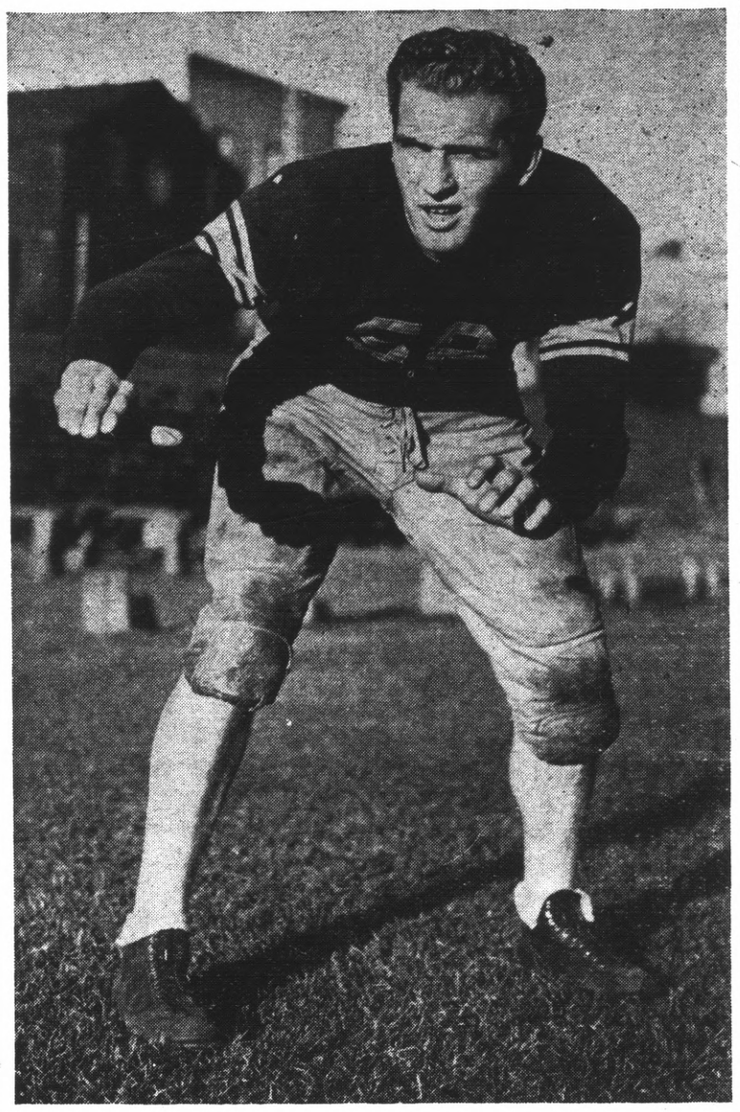

"We have secured the services of Mr. J. H. Doherty of the Fisher Studios and feel proud of this fact. He is recognized as one of the outstanding portrait photographers of the state and the Seniors will be getting the finest work possible," stated Bill Buchan, editor of the Franciscan.

One day of the October 11 week will be set aside for taking placement pictures. The price of $1.50 per dozen, secured by the 1937 Franciscan will remain in force.

Any inquiries as to pictures will be handled through the Franciscan office, Annex A 5, until such time as the photographer is on the campus. Price of Senior pictures will be 50c.

Twice-Wounded Gaters Hope For First Victory

By FRANK SCHWASS

Down from the hills come the Wildcats of Chico State College to meet the twice-wounded Gaters on the flatlands of Roberts Field tomorrow night. Nipped in the breeches by the Bulldogs of San Mateo J. C. and kicked in the place where the aforementioned paraphenalia had once reposed by the Mustangs from Davis Junction, the Purple and Gold eleven is out to break into the win column at the expense of the northern team.

Led by Captain Hal Beseman, the "tripod" of yesteryear, State hopes for a decisive victory to partially recompense itself for its two previous defeats. Beseman's playing in the line has come close to perfection this year. His tackling, according to some observers, was the outstanding feature of the line play against the Cal. Aggies. Standing six foot three inches and weighing two hundred and twenty pounds, Beseman presents a menacing figure to opposing linesmen.

Following the precedence of other schools with which State has played this year, the Chico publicity director has failed to send down any dope on the Wildcat squad. Unbiased Gater rooters, however, vouchsafe the information that the Chico squad is "lousy." While not particularly concerned with the visitors' parasitical companions, we feel that perhaps there may be an element of truth in the allegations, figuratively speaking, and complacently predict an overwhelming victory for the Gater squad. With the new defensive power shown in the game with the Mustangs, it will be a source of surprise to Purple and Gold fans if the Chico eleven breaks into the scoring column at all.

Last year, the fates smiled on Coach Art Ackers when the Wild-

I. R. CLUB SELLS YARN DOLLS TO RAISE SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Endeavoring to raise a scholarship fund for a student of the American School for Girls in Damascus, Syria, members of the International Relations Club have been, and will continue selling, yarn dolls for football rooters every Friday in College Hall.

The Damascus School was founded by Dr. Christine Essenberg, a former research biologist at the University of California, who, upon returning home after a period of teaching in the Constantinople Women's College, happened to gain entrance to several Moslem homes in Damascus. Her attention was caught by the life of the Moslem women, and by the fear and hatred that governed the relations of people of various religions.

At the request or prominent Moslems, Dr. Essenberg undertook to interest someone in starting an American school in that city, but

It's Time We Win A Game

Tomorrow night San Francisco State will take itself to the Grandstands of Robert's Field in a lot more optimistic frame of mind than it has had opportunity to be in for the last few years.

Defending the honor of the school will be the best team the college has ever produced.

A very green team was handed a royal beating by the San Mateo squad. A not so green team handed a powerful Aggies squad a moral defeat. Bad breaks were all that kept us from a concrete victory.

This week, a seasoned, wiser team goes out to hand our ancient and honorable enemies, the Chicoans, not only a moral defeat, but the best licking their panties have received since the squad were kids.

Technically we go into the game underdogs, with the smart boys predicting defeat—but the smart boys haven't seen the team in action, and they didn't see S. F. State cross the line for a score, only to have it called back in the Aggies game.

The smart boys may think they know best, but we know better!

Now a word to the team. The Golden Gater has been making every effort to prove to you that the whole college is behind you. At no time have we let you down in our whole-hearted support.

During two defeats we accepted the situation with the best grace possible, knowing that you fellows were doing the best you could.

Now it's your turn. You fellows make up a first rate team, and it's up to you to come through.

At different times we have sung the "Victory Song," but it has never meant very much. After tomorrow's game when the rooting section sings, make that song mean something besides empty words.

We are behind you—all the way—but we have a right to expect a victory.

More Strong Males Needed

One of the current objections to the Noon-Day dances is that there are too many females and not enough males, thereby forcing sweet young things to stand around with their hands in their pockets while their less deserving brethren trod the boards.

Despite the objections, such is not the case. There are enough males to go around, but they seem to lack the conquering spirit that has, in the past, made the male what it is.

It takes but little courage for the overbearing brute to stalk up to some shy, reserved creature, and beg her hand for a dance. Ten to one she wouldn't embarrass herself or yourself by refusing.

As to the fact that so many males do not care to dance with femmes whom they are not acquainted with . . . poof! That is just a self-defense machanism. Way beneath that superior attitude is a desire to dance, but the fear of refusal frightens them from any attempt to make an acquaintance.

There's quite a difference between a "pick-up" and asking a girl for a dance at a very informal noon session.

The moral: if you fellows want to have more fun at the noon dances, get around and see what can be done. Besides she can only say no once!

Parking Is A Problem!

It's high time the college did something about the parking situation. There just isn't enough space on Buchanan Street tor all the cars whose owners desire to park there.

At last Monday's meeting, the executive board took the initiative to appoint a committee to investigate the situation, and to contact the police deparment regarding diagonal parking.

By next week some definite word on the problem should be received.

But no matter how you look at it, it is a good sign that we are growing!

Best news of the week is the plan given in this issue for the Sacramento Jaunt . . . special train . . . ferry boat . . . dance . . . with assorted chambers of commerce and entertainment groups for pre- and post-game gaiety. For the couple of bones it'll cost, it ought to sell out in the first week (paid plug).

We've been wonderin' about Bob Black, the lad who cuts his own quotes out of the Gater by the dozen . . . must be keeping a scrap book. Not satisfied with this immodest display . . . the lad tosses off a hip-swingin' bit o' truckin' upon the suggestion of just about anyone, anywhere. He learned it after the Exec. Pretty scene in the Pub office is that generally carried on between irate Editor Cliff Worth and persistant critic Witt-Diamant . . . and another bit that's rich in bathos is Mimi berating Lou Adams for writing a case history on her.

But the Mimi of yesterday is gone . . . she has lost the joie de vivre, (add three more, Guiney). Now a more demure, somewhat disillusioned Mimi knits sullenly on a blue sweater and says, "I don't like this college, I'll leave soon." Of course, we don't think she means it . . . but . . . there's a change.

Agitation for angle-parking on this side of Buchanan Street is, thinks the Tripewriter, well directed. The police department is being petitioned this week. This should park almost twice as many cars . . . and let late-comer Demeke find a stall for the Ford.

On your "must" list for this week's reading matter, put the story of Ferdinand the Bull . . . you can get it at the F. FOOTBALL

BROADCASTS

DO YOU SAY IT?

By ALMARIE PORTEOUS

There is always an interest in how many of our popular expressions originated, and I herewith present a few of the most common.

Probably the most popular of all expressions is "Before you can say Jack Robinson." According to the tales of some, Jack Robinson was a man in the olden days who became well known because of the shortness of his visits when he came to call on his friends. It is said that by the time the servant had announced Mr. Robinson's arrival to the host, Jack Robinson would be ready to take his departure. Another common origination given this phrase is that it derived itself from the description or a character in an old play, "Jack Robes On."

We have all become so accustomed to hearing the term "A-1" used to designate a thing that is perfect, that it does not often occur to us to wonder how it came to be used in that connection. It was first used as a symbol in a code by which boats were graded in the shipping register of Lloyd's, the originators of marine insurance. "A-1" was the best rating given to the highest class vessels, "A" standing for perfect condition of the hull of the ship, and "1" meaning that the rigging and whole equipment was in good order.

The use of the expression "get the sack" when we mean "to be discharged," started through the impression made on people by the story of the way the Turkish Sultan disposed of his harem when he grew tired of them. His method was to put the woman into a sack and have the sack thrown into the Bosporus. This story became so well known among the people that they quite naturally slipped into the habit of saying "to get the sack" when they meant that they expected to be put out of a position suddenly.

In very much the same way, the phrase "Hobson's choice" is supposed to have resulted from the story told of a livery stable keeper in England, called Hobson, who obliged each customer to take the horse nearest the stable door, when a wish to hire a horse was expressed, even though he permitted them to examine other horses. Hence, "Hobson's choice" has come to mean a choice without any alternative, or the chance to take the thing which is offered or nothing.

Another phrase, and one which is very popular with the young people, is "kick the bucket." A great many years ago, a man called Bolsover went crazy over the unhappiness of his life and decided to commit suicide by tying a rope around his neck and hanging from a crossbeam overhead. In selecting a place to tie the rope high enough, he found he would have to stand on something in order to reach it, and so he reached for the nearest thing, a bucket. After the rope was adjusted, he kicked the bucket out from under his feet, and his full weight hung suspended from the rope about his neck. Thus the term is explained as meaning "to die."

Among the lesser terms, we find the word "Yankee." This origin is not definite, although the general belief is that it refers to the early American settlers and serves as a sort of nickname given them by the Indians. The unimportant phrases also include the expression "forlorn hope." We have made the Dutch word "hoop" meaning "company" into "hope." The "forlorn hope" was a body of volunteers formed from different regiments to perform some service of great peril.

"Showing the white feather" is not quite so well known but is still used often to express cowardice. It seems that a white feather on a bird marks a cross breed, and it is not found on a fighting cock.

The most interesting term, however, is "cowboys." I am sure that the origin of this word will surprise many just as it did me at first. It was a term applied to a band of Tories who camped in New York during the American Revolution and stole cattle from the people, and did other harm and mischief. However, this term has certainly changed meaning to be the word as we know it today, for now it is used to designate the skilled horsemen who have charge of the cattle on the great ranges of the West. Many of these cowboys have enlisted during our wars and have proved to be daring soldiers.

Time.... .....Out

By Thorpe

SELF-EXPLANATORY

After a time out of several months, "Time Out" is in print again. . . . Aside from the fact that every potential journalist likes to write a column, my prime purpose is to jot down things that will be of interest to you. . . . With due respect to my esteemed colleagues, this literary effort on my part will deal exclusively with items worth reading, I hope, and will NOT concern itself with petty grievances, other people's problems, (I have enough of my own) or whether Susie Smith held hands yesterday with Joe Blow. . . . Criticism and contributions are always welcome. . . .

GAME TIME-OUTS

Having timed last Friday's game, I think a word regarding "Time outs" in a game would be appreciated. . . . Always remember that TIME IS NEVER TAKEN OUT IN A GAME UNLESS:

1. The referee signals "Time out."
2. The team calls for "Time out."
3. The ball or player goes out of bounds.
4. A pass is called incomplete.
5. It is quarter or half-time.

For those of you who were under the impression that time was taken out after every play, and wasn't taken in until the center snapped the ball for the next play, I hope this straightens out the situation. . . . I might add that after a touchdown, time is out and not counted in for the conversion attempt. . . Do I make myself clear? . . . or do I?

JV

"Big Oaks from Little Acorns Grow." . . . How true that phrase is and how applicable it is to everyday life . . . yet how many people are willing to be a Little Acorn and try to develop themselves into a Big Oak? Our so-called Junior Varsity team is a good example. . . . Everybody wants to be on the Varsity and be a Big Oak, yet where are all the Little Acorns? . . . Sure, there's about sixteen men out for the Jay-Vee's, but God knows they're not all 60-minute men! . . . What's the matter with the majority of you fellows who aren't doing anything? . . . Are you so bloated up with your own importance, so GOOD in your own mind that you can't come out for Junior Varsity? . . . Whatever the reason may be, always remember that State will need a Varsity out there next year and the year after that and you could be on it . . . if you have the initiative, guts and spirit to start at the bottom! . . .

AN IDEA

President Roosevelt, elected by the people, gives "Fireside Chats" regarding the problems and situations facing our country. . . . I suggest that our Student Body president, elected by the students, give us, through the medium of the Gater, a few "Fireside Chats" at strategic intervals, regarding these various plans which State undertakes in a blaze of pyrotechnics, only to have them die out like the sun sinking in the West. . . . For instance, glance at these excerpts from the Golden Gater of April 14, 1936: . . . "There will be no Student House for the present because finances will not permit the purchase of the necessary property near the College grounds" . . . "William Smith, chairman of the committee," . . . "Concensus of opinion generally was that the move was not advisable at the present time." . . . In my opinion, information gleaned from a sketchy survey of the Executive Board Notes is not sufficient material for the average student. . . . The Student Union House idea is a vital issue and we, as the students, have a right to know what is going on behind the scenes of this plan or any other measure! ! . . .

cats garnered a 6-6 tie. This year the Gater will be looking the other way, perhaps smiling upon a hard-fighting Gater squad which has been getting more than its share of bad breaks. Steady improvement has been a noticeable element in the Gater lineup. Charley Iago, former work-horse of the squad, broke into the thoroughbred class last Friday night with a couple of swell runs through the Mustang's team. Runar Stone, State's perennial performer, played stellar ball in the wing position and is expected to score again come Friday night.

Art Jarl, blonde freshman behemoth, shows a disconcerting lack of regard for highly touted performers and is inclined to ignore opposing linesmen altogether in order to get at the ball-carrier. Dick Osborne also looked good against the Davis outfit when snagging passes and opening holes for the State ball-carriers.

Genial, peanut-munching, Harold Martin, State publicity director, paused long enough in his eternal dashing about to claim that, "In my opinion, Al Gomez is the best all-around football player State has had for the last two years." Martin knows football as well as, if not better than, sports writers on the big metropolitan dailies, so his word can be taken as being well-founded. Gomez is a freshman and weighs one hundred and sixty pounds.

WILDCATS ARE STUDIOUS

Chico, like Davis, is a wide place in the road, half way between Marysville and Red Bluff. The country is arid in the summer and wet in the winter. During the dry seasons the citizens get up parties to hunt eligible young huskies, who, when caught, are introduced to footgear and sent off to school to learn their ABC's and double-wing-backs. Sometimes Coach Acker of the Chico institution of higher learning gets hold of some pretty good players and they get All-State ratings. If this article has seemed to sell the Northerners short it should be remembered that football games are not won on paper and the State team is far from perfect itself.

On to the field tomorrow night will troop the Purple and Gold squad, tattered banners waving bravely and hope burning brightly beneath each numbered jersey. Packed stands and pom-poms will add color to the gala event, but there'll be no joy in the Gater dressing room if State doesn't have its first victory of the season after tomorrow night's battle.

Surprising Facts of Former State Athletic Heros

Just what has happened to these men of might and brawn who gave their all for State a few years back? Well, Sammy Phillips and Pinky Regan are working for Uncle Sam putting scrips in mailboxes. This pair played forward on various Gater basketball teams.

Another casaba tosser, Notch De Bisschop, had been quoted as saying, "I do" to another Gater, Dot Loreaux. Notch is now working at Roos Brothers here in the city.

Ray Kaufman, former wonder man of State athletics, has marched himself into a swell job as head coach at Avonal High down in the oil fields. Ralph Nathan is coaching at Bakersfield High. Together this pair formed one of State's best passing combinations.

Walter Drysdale and Walter Nolan are both teaching in the Physical Education department at Aptos Junior High, with Drysdale the head. Both of these men played four years of football 'way back when State's men had to be plenty rugged.

Iago, Osborne Get Spotlight For Great Play

Writer Misses Action of Staters in Aggies Grid Tilt

By BILL ROSE

Three hundred words about the Calif. Aggies-State football game, and not one word of it concerning the great play of Gater Quarter, Dick "Ossie" Osborne, or Half, Charlie Iago! ! !

How any writer could put down a report of that tremendous battle between the Gaters and the Mustangs and still never mention the names Iago and Osborne is beyond the knowledge of this writer. The mere fact that "Chuck" Iago ran up more yardage in that single game than he had in his previous two years, and that Dick Osborne, playing his first year for State, made about half of the tackles for the whole team seems to have been only an average performance.

This article wasn't written because of any comment on the part of either of the men. These two fellows are far above anything like that. However, it did come to the attention of several of the sports writers on the Gater staff. And it's a fact that when State gets fight and scrap like that shown Friday night by these two men, credit should be given. And LOUD!

It would seem from that exhibition Friday night that Iago has at last come into his own. Transferred from the line to the backfield last year, Charlie looks as if he has at last got the swing of running with the ball. As for Osborne, Dick is gradually becoming the defensive fullback that Bill Abbey was last year. And if the center of the Gater line remains weak as it has been, at least Osborne will be there to meet the boys when they come through.

Mural Gridders Open Schedules Next Tuesday

With nine teams representing the low freshman gym classes, intramural football will start next Tuesday at 12:10 on the Upper Field.

Today has been set as the deadline for all entries. Any group or class wishing to play must have their list of players in by three o'clock. Any of the gym instructors will accept the lists.

INTRAMURAL RULES

Following are the rules and other information so that everyone will know what he is expected to do: teams will be limited to twelve men; eight players will be used at one time, the rest may be used as substitutes; any man student who has not won his block in football is eligible; no player can compete on more than one team; games will be played every school day except Wednesday; starting time will be 12:10, and contests will continue until 12:50; failure to show up by the scheduled time means loss of the game by forfeit; no games will be replayed—ties count as ties; the league will be divided into divisions and each division will play a round robin; winners of the division titles will meet for the championship; games will be entirely touch-tackle, winning team will receive purple ribbons, runner-up, gold.

Special efforts have been made by Mr. Cox and the intramural manager to make this the most successful tournament ever conducted on the campus. However, the cooperation of everyone competing will be needed. A schedule of games will be posted next Monday on the bulletin boards in the locker room and outside the co-op. Watch for the date of the various contests. ....

A. M. S. Promises Big Time Rally

A gigantic rally with buckets of wholesome food and plenty of first grade entertainment will feature the first general meeting of the Associated Men's Students next Thursday, October 7 in Annex B. A special surprise is also being planned which Daryl Hopkins claims will wow the boys.

Today the men's council will meet to make plans for this hectic confab of the coming week. The gettogether will be their first of the new term and they will make the plans for the entire term.

"We hope that this mass meeting will be attended by all men students, it will surely be worth their while," said Hopkins. "I can assure you that the scoop entertainer that I am trying to obtain will knock the boys out of their seats. Anyhow, we hope that you all show up and make the rally a great success."

Various other activities such as Campus dances and other types of gettogethers will be held in the near future. Another large "feed" is also a probability. However, this will all depend on the success of this first big affair.

Sport Slants

By DAVE SCHUTZ

Tomorrow marks the turning point in State's football season for 1937. After the terrific improvement they showed last Friday, the Gater eleven should continue even further up the road to perfection.

Chico will probably prove to be the toughest opponent that the Gater eleven has met so far this year, but if there is as much change this week as there was last, the locals should ride the crest of a victory wave for the first time during the present campaign.

The loss of Bill Abbey momentarily left coaches Harden and Farmer without a defensive fullback who could consistently stop opposing backs in their spurts through the line. Last Friday State showed that it not only has one man to fill Abbey's shoes, but TWO. These two men, Dick Osborne and Red Thomson, carried the brunt of the Gater defense on their shoulders last week and were the chief reason for the bottling up of the Aggie running attack.

WEALTH OF BACKS

Speaking of State's backfield, it appears that Coach Dan Farmer has the most material he has ever had to work with. Besides having two powerful quarterbacks, he has a pair of really classy fullbacks in Al Gomez and Bill Harkness, two tricky and dangerous left halfbacks in Bob Kelnhofer and "Scooter" Marder, and the most improved man on the fields in Charlie Iago at right halfback.

For the first time in two years, State's double reverse with Iago carrying the mail, actually clicked. This shows that State's blocking has improved, because every man must carry out his assignment perfectly to make a double reverse succeed. As soon as the Gater passers find their receivers consistently, the locals will be set for a tremendous future.

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

Next Tuesday marks the opening of the most extravagant schedule ever attempted in the intramural field. Touch-tackle football games will be held every school day except Wednesday. Approximately sixteen teams of twelve man each will compete in the tournament which will last for the next five or six weeks.

CO-ED'S CORNER

By CAROL CROUCH

First woman in our parade of news is, appropriately, the first lady of the Associated Women Students, Frances Bolander. It's that smile of her's we notice first, and the whole hearted good humor she shows in all her dealings that makes her tops.

Speaking of women in the news, we discovered that Phyllis Ferarri is Campus Chairman of the S.I.P.R. What's that? Student Institute of Pacific Relations or something. We'll find out.

Our heartiest commendations to Bill Harkness — on his taste in women and rings. The one he gave Shirley Canning recently makes all of us kind of greenish-like.

The A.W.S. council at their meeting last Monday night planned to sponsor four teas to be arranged by the classes to introduce women of the college to each other and to Dean Ward. They also appointed Lois Ahrens as chairman of a committee of three to plan the mass meeting which will be Thursday night, October 28.

Another Stater shows us her heels on the way out. This one is Erna Gallas. She's going to Norway to study for a year. Elaine Hoxie and Gladys Barnett planned a bon voyage shower for her last Saturday.

Have you noticed the chic suit Betty Brown wore last week? It's black and berry trim. She wore a printed cotton blouse with box sleeves and bows at the neck and waist. . . . And a little mention of what we saw that was cute, but haven't seen worn yet. . . . A plaid skirt shown with a full-length suede coat, beige colored and very collegiately fitted and flared 'n' everything.

Accessories include a little round hat with a snap brim to match the skirt, and angora socks if you have cold feet. Different anyway.

By the way . . . if you have read all the books about influencing friends, living alone and still not getting stale ,and all the others, we suggest thumbing through another by Anne Fisher this time. It is illustrated by O. Soglow — "Live With A Man and Like It."

There's a movement under foot around the college headed by Cecilia Storche which will require all married men at school to wear pins or badges or something. The girls complain about wasted effort.

A. P. G. Holds Post Game Dance

Following the S. F. J. C. - State football game, October 8, Alpha Phi Gamma, college journalism fraternity, will sponsor the last post-game dance of the football season. Lee Scarlett's eight-piece orchestra and vocalist will supply the music for the affair.

The fraternity, local chapter of the national honorary journalism fraternity, will be host to approximately fifteen chapters of the western section in a convention to be held during the week of Thanksgiving holidays. It is to raise money for this convention that the dance is being sponsored. The members of Alpha Phi Gamma feel that large finances are needed if the affair is to be conducted in a manner which will do credit to San Francisco State College.

Bill Rose, chairman of the dance, indicated that arrangement had been made to give away free candy and cigarettes at the door.

Doings On The Campus

Sigma Rho Gamma Pledges

Pledges of Sigma Rho Gamma are to receive their informal initiation on Friday, October 8, and Saturday, October 9, the place of the ceremony being kept secret until after the affair. Chairman Almarie Porteous, aided by her committee of Clarabelle Bley, Marilyn Hiney, and Lillian Johnson have been working for three weeks preparing for the occasion, and President Lillian Johnson assures all members "a gay time if they attend."

At a regular meeting held Monday, Marilyn Hiney was elected Treasurer to replace Hortense Taylor, who is no longer attending State.

Tentative date was also set for a bridge party to be held at the home of Miss Johnson on November 12. Jenkel, Jewelers, have promised to donate a gift as a bridge prize, and it is believed that this donation will add to the enthusiasm of the players and will bring about a large attendance.

P.T.A. Convention

The Publications Department of State College will be invited by the California Congress of Parent Teachers to cover their State Convention to be held in San Francisco May, 1938.

This material will be published in a four-page daily booklet containing stories covering all sessions, lectures, meetings, and interesting personal items.

State College has carried this service on several occasions, and has been complimented on the excellent issues that they have placed in the hands of the delegates.

According to Dr. Roberts, this service that State College has been asked to render will not only be "a fine opportunity for this college to offer a service to the group most interested in California education, but it will also act as the best kind of publicity for the college throughout the state."

Damascus School

could find no one willing to go there to teach. Not to be daunted, she gave up her position at the university and embarked on the exacting work of removing from the Moslem girls the dark veil of ignorance.

The school has now been in operation nine years, has an enrollment of about one hundred, of whom 85 per cent are Moslems, ages varying from four to twenty-five years. Studies are carried on in three languages, French, Arabic and English.

CLUB PAYS TUITION

The International Relations Club of San Francisco State College is in a great way responsible for the success of this school, as it has taken upon itself the task of mimeographing and mailing the letters of Dr. Essenberg to all the many friends of the school throughout the nation.

The club, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Bertha Monroe, functions as a direct example of practical international relations.

"Such work," states Dr. Essenberg, "is bound to cement friendly relations in a very real and permanent manner. We hope that others in high schools and colleges may take this club as an example."

The tentative date for the next class meeting has been set as Monday, October 4.

Newman Club Picnics

With an attendance of nearly seventy, Newman Club held its annual Moraga Park picnic Sunday. Busses left Siena House on Sunday morning at 10:00 a. m. and returned about 6:00 p. m. Only one mishap occurred when one of the busses got lost on the way.

Members brought their own lunches and took part in various sports such as swimming, tennis, baseball, football, and dancing. Snapshots were taken, many of which will be used in the 1938 edition of the Franciscan.

A.M.G. Date Change

Members of Alpha Mu Gamma, national honorary language society, are asked by their president, Frank Carothers ,to note a change in meeting date to Wednesday, Sept. 29, at noon in Annex A6.

This is a postponement of the previous date of noon last Friday.

The reason for the delay, according to President Carothers, is to allow more time for all members to attend to other business so they will be able to attend Alpha Mu Gamma's first meeting.

A.W.S. Meeting Held

The A.W.S. Council held its first evening meeting of the semester last Monday in the Activities Room.

Besides attending to tamale loaf, French rolls, and coffee, the group disposed of much business for the coming semester. The first big A. W. S. mass meeting was scheduled for Thursday, October 28, and Lois Ahrens was appointed chairman. Four teas to acquaint girls with Dean Ward were planned and the suggestion that each class sponsor one of them was submitted to the representatives of the classes for approval.

Fencing Lessons

State College students who are interested in learning the fine art of fencing are going to be given a unique opportunity for expert instruction along this line by Mr. Alexander Ilin, former officer in the Russian Army.

These instructions will be given one evening and one afternoon a week. These lessons will each be two hours in length.
